

With all of the new technology coming around you can pretty much do anything you want on a computer or cell phone. With all this technology our lives are pretty much going really fast and non stop.

The new technology helps us a lot but it also hurts us a whole lot. The new weapons that come up with new technology is a good thing because it helps us stay safe and keep our families safe but, it also hurts us because some of the wrong people get a hold of the weapons and use them for horrible things. The new weapons help us in wars and help keep our soldiers safe and help them come home to the country that they are fighting for.

Cops use a lot of the new technology that is around to keep them from harms way. They get new radios that help them communicate and figure out the safest way to deal with the situation. They get all of the new bullet proof vests that come around with all of the new technology.

Cars have a huge role in new technology. They get us places faster with the new engines and computer chips. The car industries have a really advanced way to make cars. The machines that weld the car's frames make it easier on every body because they don't have to weld them by hand. The technology is making big advances in car safety. The air bags are being placed for more effect and child safety in cars is coming a long nice.

I think computers are have made the biggest jump in technology. They have come a long ways from where they used to be. Now you can surf the internet and look at whatever you want at any time of day. Computers have even made shopping more convenient. You can shop and buy on eBay and see what you would want at all of your favorite stores right on line in your own living room. That is why I think that all of the new technology has helped us in life and made life a lot more easy.
